Fast Reading Vogue Criticized by Educator

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—"There has been too much said of the advantages of fast reading. In many subjects slow reading is better," declares Dr. Harrison M. Karr, professor of public speaking and assistant director of relations with schools, on the Los Angeles Campus of the University of California.

"To be able to comprehend the gist of an entire page of reading matter at a glance is sometimes important. It is vastly more important for educational purposes to know all that is on the page so as to appraise it and remember it if need be."

War On Sea Organisms Helps Prolong Life Of Ships and Planes

LA JOLLA.—An intensive study of fouling organisms such as barnacles and the California mussel, which for some time has been under way at Scripps Institution of Oceanography, offers hope of prolonging the service period of ships, according to Dr. Denis L. Fox, associate professor of marine biochemistry at this marine station.

Amphibian planes, obliged to travel 60 or 80 miles an hour on water in order to take off, after three or four days in tropical waters begin to be fouled by visible organisms, decreasing the speed of the plane by half, states Dr. Fox. The average warship or transport in warmer waters is obliged to go into drydock every eight or ten months to be scraped and repainted.

By long testing of prepared surfaces having definite physical and chemical properties, progress has been made in retarding the accumulation of secondary organisms, as announced by Dr. Fox and Dr. Claude E. Zobell, associate professor of marine microbiology and acting director of the institution. Their investigations have included boring organisms, the wear and tear on docks and pilings, and the effect of fouling on machinery and fuel consumption.

Steel freighters whose keels were actually laid after the attack on Pearl Harbor, within three months were completed and carried bombs across the Pacific which helped to win the Coral Sea battle in May. The new steel used in those freighters or in those bombs was made partly from scrap collected in this country only a few weeks or months before the battle.

AIR HEROES RETURN TO LEAD AMERICAN FLYERS

THE flyers who made aviation history and headlines have returned and are writing new and glorious records in the battle filled skies of this war. Writing in the August issue of Cosmopolitan magazine, Donald E. Kchoe checks up on the famous aces of yesteryear and gives their present assignment. "Wrong-Way" Corrigan is flying in the Army Ferrying Command. Jimmie Doolittle is off to bomb Tokyo again. Clyde Pangborn is on a secret mission for the Air Corps and Bert Balchen is with the American Air Force and when the Yanks strike out at the air bases of the enemy in the far north, watch the headlines for the name of this blonde, quiet man who knows more about cold weather flying than any man on earth.

"The law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ." This statement from John's Gospel is the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Christ Jesus" in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday. A passage from the Lesson Sermon, taken from Matthew, relates that John the Baptist heard in the prison the works of Christ Jesus and sent two of his disciples to him saying, "Art thou he that should come, or do we look for another?" Jesus answered and said unto them. Go and shew John again those things which ye do hear and see: The blind receive their sight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, and the poor have the gospel preached to them. And blessed is he, whosoever shall not be offended in me.

Along this line Mary Baker Eddy says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures": "Jesus works established his claim to the Messiahship. In reply to John's inquiry, 'Art thou he that should come,' Jesus returned an affirmative reply, recounting his works instead of referring to his doctrine, confident that this exhibition of the divine power to heal would fully answer the question." "His mission was to reveal the Science of celestial being, to prove what God is and what He does for man." "His purpose in healing was not alone to restore health, but to demonstrate his divine Principle."

'Curly' Brumbly Dies Thursday At Compton

A victim of a cerebral hemorrhage, Martin G. (Curly) Brumbly, president of the Torrance Cleaner and Pacific Perfuming Companies, died suddenly last Thursday at the Compton Sanitarium. He had been taken to that institution in a serious condition that morning. His death came as a distinct shock to many friends here.

Mr. Brumbly, who was 48 years of age, lived at 2651 Flower st., Walnut Park, with his wife and 16-year-old daughter, Martha Ann. He was also survived by his mother, two brothers and four sisters, all residing in Compton.

A native of Leadville, Colo., he was in the automobile business and later turned his interest to oil field development and equipment. He founded the Pacific Perfuming plant here in 1929 and the Torrance Cleaners some years later.

Rites Held Monday An ardent horseman, his greatest pleasure was in riding and visiting with other horsemen. He had a wide circle of friends among the breeders in the state and was in demand to appear at all horse events such as rodeos, parades and shows. He directed the last Factory Frolic parade here three years ago.

Mr. Brumbly was a Mason and a member of the Elks lodge. The funeral service was held Monday at Morland's Mortuary in Compton with Rev. Pyle, vicar of the Episcopal church in that city, officiating. Members of the Compton Elks lodge also held rites in his honor. Interment was at Woodlawn cemetery.

Directors of the two companies which he headed here are scheduled to meet shortly to name his successor. Meanwhile, the business is continuing under the direction of Mr. Brumbly's close friend and fellow-worker, Joe Pooler.

Scrap iron and steel were not important raw materials in Civil War days. The open hearth furnace, which today uses 90 per cent of the scrap consumed by the steel industry, was not operated in this country until 1868.

"More desperately needed than ever is international education. Our young people must be made to see that the United States is part of an interdependent system, also that no people can long prosper on the misfortunes of others."

American quest for peace is old, declared Dr. Dyer, dating from the Revolution, when our cooperation with world events was already advocated here. The supposed tradition of isolation is not as strong as it is stated to be," he said.

"The only hope of maintaining a world at peace is in the wholehearted and complete cooperation of the United States and other nations in some voluntary federation or association to which they all sacrifice a share of their independence."

Outstanding accounts created by the purchase of automobiles will probably be reduced as much as 80 per cent this year due to decreased raw financing. Fish was recently added to rationed commodities in Finland with per capita weekly allowance fixed at a little more than one-half pound per person.

"Of all sad words of tongue or pen, these saddest now: 'My tires are thin.'"

Mrs. Attebery Will Serve Sunday Dinners At Anaheim Park

Having engaged Mrs. M. E. Attebery of 4010 Sepueda Blvd., to supervise the preparation of the real Southern style fried chicken dinners he will begin serving next Sunday, Aug. 30, Bob Skiles is announcing the opening of his Chicken Dinner House at Anaheim Harmony Park, 1514 West Broadway, one block west of Manchester in Anaheim.

Dinners will be served Sundays only from 1 to 7 p. m. and dancing to Skiles' orchestra will follow. Reservations can be made with Mrs. Attebery by calling Redondo 6802. She is enthusiastic about the Anaheim food center and promises her friends that they will receive the same home-cooked food there that she formerly served at her ranch house in Torrance.

Former Pastor Will Return Here Sunday

Reverend O. D. Wonder, former pastor of Central Evangelical Community church, will supply that pulpit for the next three Sundays, according to Rev. H. Wesley Roloff. Although almost completely blind, Dr. Wonder preaches with unusual vigor and clarity. His messages are vital and inspirational to all who hear them.

Mr. and Mrs. Roloff will spend next Sunday at Camp Tulequia on Lake Sequoia at the annual youth retreat of the Evangelical church. After the youth conference, the Roloffs will visit their parents in Portland.

In its great war production effort, the steel industry of America this year will consume about three times as much scrap and steel as it needed in 1938.
